

Milwaukee: Autism Evaluation and Therapy Services

1. A great resource is the Autism Society of SE WI. Their website is: <https://www.asew.org> . Their free, downloadable Resource Guide is updated regularly and contains a wealth of information and providers.
2. When considering any treatment/therapy, it may be useful to check out the Treatment and Intervention Advisory Board for the State of WI website, which reviews treatments and makes recommendations to the WI Department of Health on their effectiveness. The WI Department of Health Services (DHS) then makes funding recommendations to Medicaid/Children's Long-Term Support waiver for coverage of the treatments deemed effective. This will give you some idea of whether a treatment or therapy has been researched for whether it is actually effective, or whether it is untested. The website is: <https://tiac.wisconsin.gov> click on the "Determinations" tab, then click on each dot-bullet in the chart to review the summary of the evidence.
3. Below are some resources that families we have worked with have found helpful. Many of the assessment locations also provide therapies. We do not specifically endorse these providers, and do not guarantee that the information here is current. Please contact the provider of interest directly to confirm availability and current offerings. If you find anything to be incorrect, please let us know at help@nextstepclinic.org so we can make the corrections.
